PEDDLERS AND SEWERS AND "FOWL" PRODUCE SHARE COUNCIL ATTENTION

Warren borough's council passed ordinances Monday night that stop peddlers and street merchandisers from doing business in this community, and learned that its sewers are adequate to serve fringe neighbors if storm waters are removed. The street merchandising law is all-inclusive, applying to men, women, and neuters.

An ordinance was passed which makes it illegal to sell from house to house. It does not stop charitable solicitations but it does prohibit the sale of any kind of merchandise for charity. It affects brush salesmen, bakeries, tea companies, and all who sell at the door.

Property owners are protected from visitors who are peddling or selling without the invitation of the property owner. It is called the Green River law and has been upheld by every court, including the supreme court. It is based on the premise that a householder is entitled to privacy.

Under the law farmers are allowed to sell their produce if it is raised on their own land. This applies also to small truck farmers. They also may sell animals or poultry raised on their property. The phrasing "fowl produce" was removed for phonetic reasons.

Another ordinance passed prohibits the sale of merchandise on the sidewalks or streets of Warren. Its language includes men, women, and neuters.

When asked, "What does it do to arbutus in the spring?" the answer came back, "It will grow!" Council was really sharp this week. If this keeps up WNAE should be able to sell commercials and Jack Benny will have a new rating.

The peddling ordinance provides a fine of $50 or thirty days. The street merchandising ordinance also has a fine reaching the $50 mark and a five-day sentence. And each day's violation is a separate offense.

Neither law provides for licensing.

Sewage Plans

Councilman James Frantz announced that the Warren Borough Sanitary Authority may advertise for bids on the sewage plant the latter part of this month. He said the Authority has contacted the Warren Water Company and that it is possible the Company will collect the sewage rental with the water bills.

He referred to a report recently made by the borough engineer concerning a survey of Warren sewers. This report reveals that the system was planned to accommodate the community's growth and will service thirty thousand residents. For this reason the council may be asked to rescind its resolution which prohibits fringe residents from hooking onto the borough sewers.

Most of these people live on streets above Warren and their septic tanks are very apt to leak into underground channels that flow into Warren. Inasmuch as Warren can service them it seems impractical not to do so. They will pay sewage rentals the same as borough residents and in any situation where the present sewers will not handle the extra volume they will be charged for the necessary changes.

The report suggested that the sewers in the area which will house the proposed new Warren area high school can handle the school volume. Metering would be installed to charge the school, and a heavier pipe might be installed from Division to Jackson to control the added pressure.

We believe, however, that the optimistic estimate will not apply to many areas unless storm sewers are installed to remove this flow from the sanitary sewers. This also will reduce the construction and operation cost of the actual plant.

Also Considered

Council accepted the resignation of C. T. Berdine who has moved out of Warren and named Karl Timm to fill his unexpired Fifth Ward council term.

The resignation of J. A. VerMillyea from the Warren board of health also was accepted for the same reason and Andrew L. Yurick was named in his place.

Engineer DeBell said the new paving was about done except for a few touches. He said the lower section of the Glade Run project was almost ready for inspection and acknowledged the receipt of $18,600 from the civil defense sources for flood repairs.

Civil service examinations for firemen and policemen were approved and the resignation of Kenneth G. Rosenquist from the fire department was accepted.

An ordinance was passed amending the Third ave. load limitation to allow deliveries or loads originating on Third to exceed the five ton limit. The limit includes the weight of the truck.

Burgess Rice was advised to permit the Boy Choir to have a tag sale on Warren streets. This is an exception to the policy which limits such sales to an established few.

A HOME RUN was banged out by this lad in Saturday's Midget All-Star contest.

BALL ONE. A Bantam batter lets a low pitch go by.

BEVERLY JOHNSON, a former majorette with the Warren High School Dragon band and now a member of the majorette corps of the Temple University Diamond Band, will perform before the American Legion's Class A Drum and Bugle Corps competition on War Memorial Field Saturday.

She will twirl both a regular baton and, with the lights out, a fire baton.

Besides twirling the baton herself, Beverly has taught others the fundamentals of baton twirling for the past four years and this summer has organized a marching and twirling corps.

Burgess Rice was advised to permit the Boy Choir to have a tag sale on Warren streets. This is an exception to the policy which limits such sales to an established few.

ANOTHER STOLEN BASE. Third base is pilfered by a Bantam All-Star as the batter watches his teammate at third.

MOVED TO A NEW LOCATION is Tiny Town which is now located at 340 Pennsylvania Ave., W., next to Brown's Boot Shop. The store's merchandise is displayed on two floors. The ground floor of the children's shop features children's furniture.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

CIVIL RIGHTS SLANTS

The many incidents that occur in the continuing battle for civil liberties now are receiving more attention than usual because of the civil rights bill which is being considered by Washington officials. One of the most outstanding weaknesses of our congressional customs has been pinpointed by the civil rights vote.

Some have wondered why a few western representatives voted against the bill. They didn't know that these officials had made a trade. If some southern congressmen would vote with them in the Hell's Canyon fight they would cooperate with the Southerners on the civil rights bill. This is trade-voting and log-rolling of the worst kind, and certainly democracy at its worst.

In Indiana the Civil Liberties Union was denied the right to meet in the main library. The school board voted against the permission. But the board reversed itself in a hurry when the newspaper and the Catholic Record got on the subject. The paper suggested that the school board members attend the meeting themselves. "It is high time the School Board, too, learned a little about civil rights," wrote the editor.

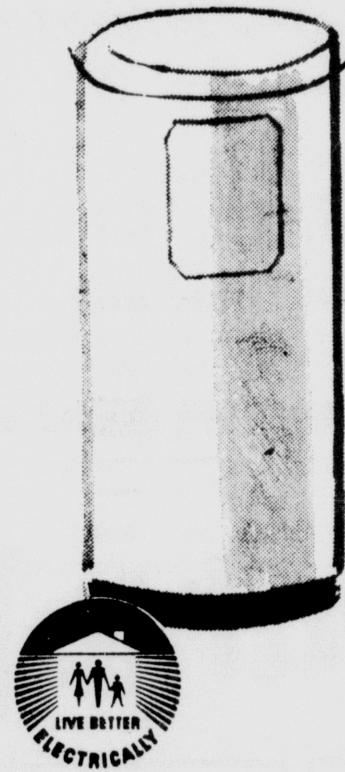

The Catholic Record offered some interesting slants in opposing the board's action. "What a sad state of affairs when reputable citizens find it difficult to obtain facilities for open discussion simply because they are concerning themselves with protection—not of popular causes—but of the civil rights and liberties of unpopular people," the editorial commented.

The Record then reminded Catholics that the country is full of minorities—"we are one of them". It said that "some Catholics apparently would prefer to find security in the approving smile of the American Legion." But, the editorial pointed out, "if Catholicism should ever become highly unpopular again in the United States . . . we wonder what the American Legion and var-get an Electric Water Heater and...

LIVE BETTER...Electrically

Is your "Big Parade" to the bathroom at a stand-still while the family waits for hot water?

Why worry—switch to electric water heating and watch the waiting line disappear. And at the same time you'll benefit from these extra advantages:

SAFE . . . An electric water heater never needs watching. No flames; no fumes; outside is cool.

CLEAN . . . There's nothing to cause dirt; no rusty water to ruin clothes. Clean as electric light.

FAST . . . No running short; no delay for reheating; constant supply; constant convenience.

ODORLESS . . . Flameless electric heating gives off no annoying odors or fumes. No flue needed.

LONG-LASTING . . . Many have been in service more than 20 years, thanks to scientifically controlled heating and rust prevention.

ious timid public officials would do about renting us a hall. We would like to see the Civil Liberties Union around then."

* Then there was the owner of a Carolina store who was asked to make an experiment to see how really prejudiced people were. He was induced by Harry Golden, editor of the Carolina Israelite, to shut off the store's "white" water fountain and put up an "out of order" sign.

The store owner followed the suggestion and the whites drank from the fountain labeled "Colored" with no harm and no hesitancy.

It seems to us that if these southern people really believe in civil rights, as they so loudly proclaim, they were denying the colored people the privacy of their fountain and were not choosy when segregation facilities mechanically broke down.

Their prejudice proved very thin when they were thirsty.

* But let's not look down our northern noses at Carolina. The Civil Rights bill, and others that must follow, apply to situations above the Mason-Dixie line also. In Cleveland a local union attempts to prevent negroes from obtaining municipal jobs by refusing them union cards.

National officials have ordered the policy stopped, and the city government has made it easier for applicants to enter the trade school. Students now may be admitted before joining a union. Thus the union cannot keep them out of trade school by refusal of a card.

Meanwhile, the human rights of Marine recruits is receiving some close attention. A survey of 124 ex-Marines stationed at the Parris Island base from January 1 to May 1, 1956, revealed that a vast majority of them had seen maltreatment at the hands of drill instructors, including daily hitting and kicking. The hitting was done with hands, fists, and swagger sticks.

Other mistreatment included dry shaving with rusty blades and smoking with blanket wrapped around the head.

The Constitution provides that people shall be secure in their persons and not be deprived of their liberty without due process of law, and there are federal statutes which make it a crime to assault persons on a military post.

* And in Washington we find a "sleeper" bill which would take another snipe at press freedom. This is HR 7910 which was supposed to be a rather innocent law dealing with dead letters.

But it was amended and interested groups were not given a chance to be heard. Interested groups would be all of your newspapers, and consequently all of your citizenry.

The amendment would make second class mail rates available to "controlled" circulation newspapers and magazines (throwaways). This is to say that free circulation publications would rate the same consideration as publications for which you pay and which are bona-fide newspapers.

With the government constantly muttering about losses in the post office this seems a little inconsistent. Maybe you should tell Senators Edward Martin and Joseph S. Clark, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D.C., about your objections.

COST OF MILK

The price of milk has come in for much discussion at various times and has been very much mixed up with politics, especially in the last state election when some Democrats talked of lowering the price to the consumer. It often has been claimed that the big money goes to the processor, leaving the farmer holding the (would it be delicate to say bag?).

According to a recent study made in Dauphin county the average production on eight farms in that area was 8,442 pounds per cow. The average feed costs per cow was $199, average labor cost, $121, and average miscellaneous cost per cow, $122. It came out at a cost of $5.23 per cwt.

On smaller farms the labor costs ran as high as $215 per cow. Labor costs on the larger farms were as low as $100 per cow. Mechanized equipment plays a major part in this difference.

It was estimated that the average 100-acre farm required an investment of $15,000 in equipment. For the 200-acre farm the increased cost of equipment was negligible.

There is one little weakness to this report which we believe does not do the farmer justice. Labor costs were placed at 85 cents an hour. Family labor was placed at 70 cents an hour. And the farmer's own personal labor was placed at $1 an hour. How would one of you boys in the machine shop like to do chores for that money?

Now if you knew how much of the milk price you pay goes to the farmer you would have fuel for your scratch pad.

Meanwhile, you can find proof that the farmer is not away ahead of the game. But he apparently is a good risk. Pennsylvania banks loaned the farmer $146 million in 1956. This is ten million higher than 1955.

At the same time, Pennsylvania farmers borrowed over $22 million from federal land banks, nearly ten million from insurance companies, about $16 million from production credit associations, and over $15

EDUCATION TOMORROW

The teaching shortage some day may be alleviated by intelligent use of television. It already is available in inexpensive units for industrial use and certainly will be improved annually.

Much larger groups can be taught this way, and less facilities are required to do the job. The very best of instruction can be made available, either through the use of leading instructors or through movies made by acknowledged specialists in their fields.

School planners should remember these possibilities, and facilities for television cables and other apparatus should be included in the building. These might include wiring to the rooms, and several large rooms to accommodate combined classes.

There must be much thinking along these lines in educational circles. Plans no doubt are available.

NEW CAR DEALER

You will be able to buy a Rambler from a local dealer soon. The American Motors will have an agency located in North Warren.

TREES DON'T CARE

If you lose a tree from disease, you cannot deduct it from your income tax. This is intended to contradict a national magazine article which says the loss of an ornamental tree from Dutch elm disease is deductible.

The only property damage that is deductible is that which results from "sudden force", such as fire, storm, shipwreck, or other casualty, or from theft. The rule does not apply to trees lost through disease, fungus, beetles, insects, worms, and similar means.

GOLF COURSE PLANS

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is grabbing the golf ball and running with it in Bradford where a public course has been talked for many years but nothing done. About 400 Bradford golfers are going to Salamanca, Olean, Smethport and other neighboring towns for their sport.

The Jaycees have named committees and are investigating the possibilities. They are making a special study of the Chillicothe, O., plan where a nine-hole course was built for $45,000. (If anyone has plans like this around here, double the figure and you might be close.)

SHARPEN YOUR SHARES

The county champions meet in Hershey for the state championship, next Thursday, August 22, when we will learn who the best ploughmen are in these parts. There will be two champs, the best man on the level and the handiest contourist.

In Brief

ABOUT $8,000 is the goal of the Warren County Development association which met last night to distribute material and pledge cards to delegates from area communities. It will be matched with $4,300 from the state for an industrial and economic survey of the area.

The survey will be made by Arthur D. Little Co., of Boston, a representative of which will be in Warren Monday to interview local residents who will be hired to gather part of the data. The money will be provided by business and professional people.

In Warren the industrial and retailers committees of the Chamber of Commerce are cooperating in handling the financial drive. Various civic groups are doing the job in nearby communities.

HIGHWAY NEEDS for the Warren area were discussed by the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce board this week, and its transportation committee was asked to determine what we will need in highways because of the St. Lawrence Seaway project which many believe will boom business for those in the area who are ready for it. Assemblyman Allen M. Gibson suggested that the recommendations resulting could be made to Harrisburg in hopes of added consideration. He said the new Keystone short-way would require 12 to 15 years to complete, and that much expansion in the highway system should develop in that time.

UNHAPPY ARE MEMBERS of the Warren Area C. of C. board concerning the State Department of Commerce vacation map which ignored the Allegheny National Forest and Warren county. A protest is going out to the department and to the governor.

nesday morning when a tree knocked over by a Pittsfield Township road grader struck him. The lad was found lying along the roadside by his brother and rushed by ambulance to Warren General Hospital where he was pronounced dead by Dr. Arthur J. O'Conner.

STATE POLICE checked into four mishaps during the week. On Saturday afternoon cars operated by Henry Hanulik, Creighton, and Robert Kitelinger, R.D. 1, Tidioute, sideswiped on the Irvine-Tidioute road 3 miles north of Tidioute. About $1000 damages resulted to the two cars.

The same afternoon cars operated by Donald Hardenburg, Youngsville, and Donald Foote, Malone, N.Y., collided on Rt. 6, four miles west of Warren. Hardenburg's machine went off the road, and as the car returned to the road it collided with the Foote machine traveling in the opposite direction. The two cars were damaged to the tune of $500 and no injuries were reported.

A car driven by James A. McGuire, R.D. 1, Warren, missed a curve and left Rt. 957, eight miles east of Sugar Grove on Sunday. There were no injuries reported and $100 damages were inflicted to the car when it hit a hay rig.

Monday evening on the same road 12 miles from Warren, a car operated by Robert Knopf, R.D. 2, Russell, rammed the rear of a car driven by Leo Bauer, R.D. 3, Russell, with $200 damages resulting. The mishap occurred when Bauer slowed down to turn off the road and Knopf, traveling in the same direction, could not avoid hitting him. There were no reported injuries.

FOUR ACCIDENTS were investigated by borough police during the week. The first occurred Friday at the corner of Pennsylvania Ave. and Conewango Ave. A motorcycle operated by Thomas Smith, 13 S. Carver St. and a car operated by Dorothy Lincoln, 25 S. State St., North Warren, had stopped for the traffic light. A car driven by Esther Gnage, Kinzua, hit the rear of the Lincoln machine and pushed it into Smith's motorcycle. No injuries were reported.

On Saturday, cars driven by Leo Trembley, Rt. 2, Warren, and Shirley Griffith, Warren, collided while traveling in opposite directions on South St. Damages to the Griffith machine amounted to $150.

Early Monday morning parked cars belonging to Francis Masterson, 8 Canton St., and Eugene Reynolds, 431 Main St., Youngsville, were struck in the 400 block on Pennsylvania Ave., W. Police later apprehended the driver of the third machine, James Barnes, Main St., Clarendon, and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident.

Cars operated by Voula T. Danas, 122 E. Fifth Ave., and Anthony W. Cosmano, 2 Main St., Clarendon, came together at the intersection of Conewango Ave. and Third Ave. Tuesday night. No injuries were reported.

THREE TEACHERS from this area are in Chambersburg this week as representatives of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. Attending the twelfth annual workshop are James Cable, of Warren, who is the PSEA northwestern district president; Mrs. James W. Cable, Warren, who represents the Warren county PSEA, and Miss Jane Masters, of Warren, who represents the Warren borough PSEA.

WHERE'S THE COWBOY?

What has become of those who go for the extremes in exposed transportation? We are referring to those who enjoy bouncing along on top of a horse and the fraternity which burned the breeze with their legs wrapped around a hot motor. The large groups of equestrians and cyclists seem to have melted away before the comforts of the modern car.

The jalopies and the sports cars probably have stolen much of the attention which once was given to sputter-bikes. The horses may have taken to the back trails, and it is a good place for them, with 245 h.p. motors busting cars in both directions along most highways.

We don't miss the horse. But we'll wager he misses us. We were reminded of him a few days ago when a member of the WHS Class of 1927 breezed into town, without his horse, to observe the thirtieth anniversary of two events. To him it was the day he was graduated. To us it was the day we saw him disappear into nothingness aboard a horse.

We didn't recognize this gentleman until he looked us full in the eye. Then we couldn't help but exclaim, "Sure, I remember. The last time I saw you, a horse was running away, with you aboard!" Oh, happy landings!

We must have written about this. We have told it more times than there are horseflies on the old fair grounds. (Today, that is.)

But this is vacation season and we don't mind coasting. It was a bright day in summer and a tentful of boys on Lake Chautauqua decided they wanted to go horsey-back. This was one of our early experiences as a minority group.

We didn't approve of the plan for the simple reason that horses just don't like us. They chase us, wiggle their teeth at us, and show no willingness to cooperate.

We are not certain of the reason for this, though an early photograph reveals us astride a donkey in a sailor suit. The one with the long ears without a suit is not us. This may have fixed our social plane in equestrian social circles.

Getting back to the tentful of riders, we find them gathering in a stable at Bemus Point, where we had to wait for the horses to return from a previous ride. A rather dust-coated, tired old fellow was turned over to us, and we professionally stepped into the left stirrup and swung aboard. We elected to avoid the Tom Mix leap from the loft. We figured we might sail back to the loft by return mail.

The attendant advised us that we must hold the horse up because he had sore feet. We suggested we were under the impression that if there was any holding up to be done we were paying the horse to do it. Or someone was.

We then said, "Giddup." The horse walked into a barn pillar. He looked the post over and walked into it again.

We suggested he must be blind, but the attendant said he could see very well. In fact, when we got out of town we better hold him on the road because he was apt to head for the nearest pasture.

We tried backing the steed, and also pulled on the reins. He walked into the post.

That did it! We got off!

Then up stepped the gentleman from the Class of 1927. "I'll ride him!" said he. And he did, halfway to the door. Then the animal saw daylight. It was long before jets but this horse was progressive. He went away from there, with '27 flopping both elbows and feet fanned to the breeze.

And that was the last we remembered Old '27. The horse came back, but they told us that '27 got tied up in a housewife's wash in a Bemus backyard.

After thirty years we at last had our chance to thank the man. No one

HAZARDOUS GOLF

When you speak of hazards in golf you may be referring to something more troublesome than a sand trap and more dangerous than a bunker. We've seen some situations that would gladden the heart of a malevolent cartoonist.

Not long ago we were playing with a gentleman who hooked his shot into some bushes. His ball was spotted by the caddy and the sporting gentleman elected to play it as it lay.

This he did by backing into the bush, spreading the limbs and preparing to swing. At this point his face became twisted with surprise and pain, and he came forth at a pace somewhat comparable to the speed he had in mind for the little white target.

"I've been stung by a yellow jacket," he exclaimed, as he caressed portions of his anatomy that naturally came closest to the bushes during his crouched position.

Torn with a mixture of sympathy and puzzlement as to just how we were going to score this one we were interrupted in our thoughts by his next exclamation to the effect that he thought the animal still was in his pants . . . the golfer's that is.

Willing hands immediately came forward and our dignified member of the golfing fraternity stood in the center of a very fancy fairway with his pantaloons lowered while a companion crouched behind him, searching gallantly for the invading insect.

Either the bird had flown or it was a thorn which fooled our friend. Pants and aplomb were restored and the offender of yellow jackets chose to return to the scene of his sudden retreat. Again he assumed the angle and with calm nerves brought forth the little ball in a neat flick.

The ball was well played for a respectable bogie four and we proceeded to the next tee where the stung victim prepared to play his drive. As he examined the ball to clean it for hitting he whispered a few words that struck the foursome with consternation. "I isn't my ball."

CHAMPS CONTINUE PACE

First half champion Texas Lunch nine, with 7 wins and 1 setback, still lead the City softball loop in the race for second half honors. They are closely followed by Culligans and Jones' with Lacy's, Nino's, Youngsville and Valone's rounding out the league in that order.

During the week Jones' blanked Lacy's 9 to 0 on Farnsworth's two-hit pitching. Bires caught for the Sheffield nine who scored 6 runs in the first inning and three runs in the fourth to win. R. Giunta and Bonavita was the Lacy's battery.

Youngsville rapped Valone's 12 to 7 for their first win of the second half. Mays, Tubbs and Haight hit homeruns for Youngsville.

Texas Lunch edged Valone's 13 to 12. Harold Brown, in 6 trips to the plate, connected for two home runs, two triples and a double for the winners. Bob Harrison and Bill Brown was the winning battery. Sorenson pitched and Wilbur caught for Valone's.

Culligans whipped Nino's 14 to 2 behind the pitching of Ken Sorenson who hit the game's only homerun. Bartholomew caught for Culligans. Clark pitched and Stephens and Berdine caught for Nino's.

WILDCATS WIN AND LOSE

The Ludlow Wildcats were handed their third loss of the season Saturday when the Warren Elks beat them 21 to 15 in a free-scoring game. The loss was Fred Gray's first in two years of pitching for the McKean County nine.

Ken Thompson went the distance on the mound for the Elks, even though giving the Cats 21 hits, to snap a nine-game Ludlow winning string. Elk batters collected 25 hits from Ludlow pitchers Fred Gray and John Labesky.

On Sunday the Cats bounced back for a 1 to 3 win over the Jamestown Bombers. Fred Gray pitched six-hit ball to pick up his twelfth win of the season against only one loss. Ludlow scored seven times in the third frame to nail down the win.

Sunday's win gives the Wildcats 18 victories and only 3 setbacks for the season.

LAYFIELD WINS SKYLINE FEATURE

Dean Layfield of Wellsville roared across the finish line ahead of the pack in last Sunday's 20 lap feature race at Skyline Speedway. Runnerups were John McGinley, Clarion; Bill Petty, Brockway; and Joe Sauner, Jamestown.

The jalopy feature race was taken by Chuck Martin of Russell with Roger Boland, Sherman, finishing second and Keith Lundmark, Russell, capturing third position.

KINZUA UPSET BY HARMONY

Kinzua went down to its second Chautauqua County Association defeat of the season at Harmony last Sunday by a count of 8 to 4.

Harmony scored two runs in the first inning and never gave up their lead as they pushed across two more runs in the second, third and seventh innings.

Kinzua scored its first run in the second frame when Ray Peterson singled home Quiggle who had tripped. A hit batsman and doubles by Mike Mohney and Ray Peterson produced two more Kinzua runs in the fourth. Dick Koebley homered in the seventh to account for the fourth Kinzua run.

Kinzua's loss coupled with Kennedy's 9 to 7 triumph over Falconer throws the league race into a deadlock again.

SUGAR GROVE EDGED BY BUSTI

After scoring seven runs in the first two innings, the Sugar Grove nine ran out of gas and were beaten 10 to 7 by Busti in Chautauqua County Association play last Sunday.

The Grovers scored four times in the opening frame on singles by Eggleston, Lloyd Gray, Hank Woods, Burch, a walk and an error.

In the second inning Chico Donato's double and singles by Gene Coan, Lloyd Gray and Hank Woods accounted for three runs. From there on Sugar Grove was unable to dent home plate.

Busti steadily chipped away at the Sugar Grove lead. They tallied once in the first and four times in the second. In the eighth inning, the Busti nine pushed across two runs to take the lead 8 to 7 and in the ninth added two more runs to their victory margin.

The loss gives Sugar Grove a 5 and 9 slate in league play.

Television and Radio

By John Crosby

MILDER, MUCH MILDER
(While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be conducted by guest writers. Today's contributor is magazine writer and playwright Jean Kerr.)

I never feel that we see the same television that other people see. For one thing, we have one of the first sets ever built, which means that if you squat so close to it that your knees rub against the dial buttons you can ALMOST see Ed Sullivan. We cling to it, all ten inches of it, because we imagine that any minute now it will be valuable as a collector's item. (Pull out those tubes, plant it with philodendron, and THERE'S your conversation piece). Also, it seems as if every time we save up $229 for a bigger set, we use the money to take a trip someplace where there is no television.

But the fact that our reception is poor is the least of it. What worries me, and gives me this feeling of being out of touch culturally, is that I never seem to have the PROGRAMS that other people see. At cocktail parties, when I chatter on about Lassie or Robin Hood or Disneyland, I get nothing but the blankest stares. You won't believe it, but some of these people have never even HEARD of Oswald Rabbit. I mean, what DO you suppose they look at? I don't pretend to have watched every minute of these shows, but let me tell you -- when you have to run out to the den five times in a single half hour to tell those kids for heaven's sake to lower that thing, you pick up a lot. That Lassie, for instance, should be an example to us all. What a head that dog has on her shoulders!

It's clear, then, that I'm not qualified to talk about television at all; but like so many unqualified people I do have opinions -- particularly about commercials.

Now I learned way back at my mother's knee that you can't stay tuned to that station for another full hour of glorious entertainment if somebody doesn't pay the bills. So I expect that nice young announcer to appear and smile in a way that will show every one of his expensive new porcelain crowns. I know he is going to take a puff of that cigarette and raise his eyes heavenwards as though he were in the throes of a mystical experience. Indeed it will be only with great difficulty that he pulls himself together sufficiently to confide in us all that "Wonderboroughs taste milder because they ARE milder." This seems fair enough to me. The announcer is a salesman and he is trying to sell cigarettes.

What disturbs me is when, instead of the announcer, we are given a pair of young people necking in a canoe. Eventually the boy stops nibbling at the girl's earlobes long enough to murmur huskily, "Darling, have a Wonderborough, they're milder because they are made only from the tender center leaf."

"Yes, dear," she purrs back, "and did you know that more people are switching to Wonderboroughs than to any other leading brand?"

Now I ask you -- what are we supposed to think? I know what I think: those two kids are sick. And what really worries me is that shaky romance. Any one of these days he is going to leave that girl for another cigarette.

An even more obvious mistake, it seems to me, is the practice of always raising the volume for the commercial. (Now I don't want to get any statistics from sound engineers. All I know is that the voice that says "Ladies, find out why women everywhere...." certainly SOUNDS louder than anything that went before it.) I don't know what it's like in other families, but we finally had to put a rug in the television room because there were so many falls from people slipping on the bare floor in that mad dash to lower the set as soon as the commercial came on. Maybe somewhere in the country there is a viewer who reacts to that sudden rush of sound by saying "Darling, do watch this, isn't it fantastic what that razor will do to that hidden beard?" Maybe. But what I really imagine is that most people will watch the commercial only if it doesn't require any particular effort. If they have to get up and

Swiss Ladies.... ... Are Ladies

(Dawn Taft, Warren county's community ambassador, writes about the ladies of Switzerland where she is spending a part of the summer.)

August 7

Dear ladies,

There are many kinds of homes in Switzerland, the wooden hut, the farmstead, the apartment, the beautiful house in garden suburbs, but in practically all there is an excellent housewife.

The Swiss women have no right to vote, which may seem strange to us, but, indeed, very few are interested in politics. The Swiss explain this by saying that politics are too involved (the Swiss are called to the polls on the average of once a month to vote on all types of questions from an increase in tram rates to placing new windows in the cathedral) and that the women do not have time to consider these questions carefully and also run a good home. Professional women are definitely a minority and the concept of a career woman is virtually unknown.

The art of homemaking is the supreme seal of womanhood in Switzerland. Every girl must attend a homemaking school. Each Swiss housewife prides herself on the supply of monogrammed linens she had embroidered as a girl (even dish-towels have her monogram), the spotless cleanliness of her home, and the tidiness of her children. One often finds a young maid-of-all-work in the Swiss household. Indeed, some German-Swiss families still send their daughters to the French-speaking sections to work in a home and learn humility as well as the art of homemaking.

The housewife's lot is not an easy one in Switzerland. Most women consider as luxuries some of the articles American women think they could not live without. Very few homes have washing machines and hot running water is common only in the larger cities. In many of the smaller villages the women still congregate at the village fountain or a nearby lake or stream to wash. The refrigerator, if there is one in the home, is about two feet square. However, one does not need a larger one for Swiss women make frequent trips to the shops. They admit the reason several trips made during the day is purely social. There are no supermarkets even in the larger cities, though one chain store, Migros, can be found in most towns and prices are generally cheaper there. Some Swiss boycott these stores completely because they fear the disappearance of the smaller shops.

Shopping in Switzerland is delightful. First, one must be equipped with a basket or a very ingenious string bag, whose space seems infinite and shape most variable. These are necessary, for Swiss shopkeepers do not furnish paper sacks with their merchandise. With such a bag one goes from cheese shop to butcher, to fruit vendor, to bakery (filled with fascinating little pastries and long loaves of bread), and often to a flower stall, for Swiss homes are filled with cut flowers in the rooms and flower boxes at most every window. Freezing compartments are unnecessary for there is little frozen food and, though most shops carry canned goods, the Swiss housewife does not use these frequently.

The Swiss mother is not involved in club projects and meetings for such do not exist. It is quite hard for a Swiss woman to understand this phase of our life. She spends her time tending her home, taking daily walks with her children, often stopping at one of the numerous sidewalk cafes for tea and cakes, and going, when available, once a week to gymnastic classes, for the

WICU TO HIT AREA BY THANKSGIVING DAY

WICU, Erie's Channel 12 television station affiliated with NBC and ABC, expects to have its power increase in operation by Thanksgiving Day. Its wattage will be upped from 30,000 to 316,000 enabling it to reach a much larger area of viewers.

Warren county is in the area of class A coverage, meaning it will receive a powerful audio signal and clear video picture in both color and black and white. An average antenna is all that is required for excellent reception for homes in class A areas. Some cable companies are expected to add the channel to their services.

WICU is constructing a new building to house its all-new transmitting equipment and also a new tower on a site six miles south of Erie on the crest of hills that border the city. ***
